VICTIM'S CHILD ASKS MERCY FOR KILLER

Texas Girl Aids in Effort to Save Life of Father's Murderer.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 28.— "Go to the governor. I'll pray for you."
That assurance was given by Dorothy Finucane today to her schoolmate, Gladys Stephens, as Gladys prepared to visit Austin with her five small brothers and sisters in an effort to obtain clemency for their father, who murdered Dorothy's father. The father, G.
W. Stephens, is waiting in Bexar county jail for the trial court to fix the day on which he must hang.

Meanwhile a mocking fate continued its celebration of the holidays with more of the queer pranks it has played since Stephens slew T. A. Finucane.
Instead of making the two girls embittered enemies, chance has united them and made women of a pair who yesterday were children of fourteen. Dorothy, who sits across the school aisle from Gladys, avowed her love for her classmate the day before Christmas. Their teacher had tossed slips of paper bearing each students' name into a hat. Each child drew a name for an exchange of gifts at the class party. A hush fell over the room as Gladys drew Dorothy's name.
"It wasn't her fault," said Dorothy to the class. "Her daddy took mine away, but the law is going to take hers away to pay for it. I'm going to give her a present. Certainly."
Her present was a story book.

MAN, 68, IN JAIL, FALLS HEIR TO $10,000

"King of Denver's Vagrants" Is Beneficiary Under Sister's Will.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 28.—Just twenty-four hours after he had been lodged in the City Jail for the ninth time this year, William A. P.
Scully, sixty-eight, "king of Denver vagrants," received word that he had fallen heir to a fortune.
For two weeks his son, Delroy Scully, a well-to-do merchant of Sterling, Col., has been endeavoring to find him, that he might be told of the death of his sister, Fannie Fillmore, in Williamsport, Pa., three weeks ago and the subsequent read-

Wears Bridal Gown at Funeral of Fiance

WEIRTON, W. Va., Dec. 28.— Miss Tingler wore her bridal gown at the funeral of Roy Ledson yesterday. He was her fiance, and was shot as a result of a family feud. The couple were to have been married last Saturday. James Pearson, accused of the killing, is still at large. He is about fifty years old, and, like Ledson, had worked in the mill here.

ing of her will, in which he was named a beneficiary of a third part of her $30,000 estate. Two other sisters share in the fortune.

Chaplain to Rescue.
After all efforts of Delroy and his brother, H. Eugene Scully, the latter of whom visited Denver for several days last week in an attempt to find their father, had failed, they wrote to Jim Goodheart, city chaplain and founder of the Sunshine Mission, asking him to lend his services. Jim received the letter this morning and went direct to the police station, where the elder Scully has been spending a large part of his time in the last four years.

Ninth Conviction in Year.
Scully was reclining composedly in his favorite cell. He told Jim that he had been incarcerated just the day before when he had defaulted, as usual, in the payment of a "$60 and costs" fine following a conviction for vagrancy.

This was his ninth conviction since January 1. The last time was November 1, after he had been arrested on three or four occasions as a "sleeper." He was sentenced to thirty days at that time, and had been out just thirteen days when he was picked up again Tuesday.

Jim did not tell of his good fortune last night, but decided, instead, to raise the amount of his fine and obtain his release first.
Scully was born in Williamsport, Pa., in 1854. Thirty years ago he emigrated to Colorado, where he settled down in the undertaking and auctioneering business at Sterling. As time went by he amassed a small fortune; then his wife died and he gradually slipped away.

He eventually became indolent and dissatisfied with his lot at Sterling, despite the repeated invitations of his sons to make his home with them, and drifted into Denver four years ago.

Jailed 25 Times.
Since that time, according to Jim Goodheart, Scully has been in and out of jail no less than twenty-five times. He has become the "king of Denver vagrants," even going to the jail on nights when he was at liberty to ask for his favorite bed.

For a time he resided in the Salvation Army Hotel, but in the last year has contented himself with quarters in the city jail.
"The Sunshine Mission has put no less than ten or twelve suits of clothes on Scully during his stay in Denver," Jim said. "We have procured him several jobs, but he never held them because he would never work. He got so he would not take care of his personal self."

Hope Given Up.
"In fact he has been cursed by more members of the Denver police department than any man who passed through its portals. In spite of their admonitions and warnings he has lost his self-respect.
He has given up hope."

"But even in his hopelessness there has come a light. Eventually the sign on the front door of this mission, 'Hope for All Who Enter,' finds its mark. In the case of Scully it has been a will."

"When he has been released from jail we shall make one supreme effort to bring the man back to respectability. We have striven in the past, but the utter want of aspiration in the man himself has caused our efforts to go astray. We are engaged in the business of rebuilding men. It is never too late to begin. We shall begin with him tomorrow, or, if we have to wait until he is released in January 9, we shall start then."

BLAST BLOWS MANHOLE COVERS HIGH IN AIR

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Four manhole covers were hurled into the air on Snyder avenue yesterday afternoon by a series of four explosions. It is thought accumulated gas in the manholes caused the lids to blow off. Several persons had narrowly escaped from being struck by the heavy metal lids as they fell. The blast broke several wires in underground cables.
A repair crew of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit narrowly escaped injury when the covering near Sixteenth street let go. A live wire was broken in the fall of the lid.
